Turkish Nationalists Suppress Sultanate

(By Associated Press)
London, Nov. 3.—It is reported that the Turkish Nationalist Assembly at Angora has passed a law suppressing the sultanate of Turkey and the law of succession to the throne, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Constantinople. Such action is interpreted to mean that the Sultan has been disposed.

All Treaties Abrogated

Angora, Nov. 3.—The Turkish Nationalist government announced that it considers null and void all treaties and conventions concluded since March 16th, 1920 by the Constantinople government.

Public Opinion Will Be Read At Fair Thursday

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 3.—America's barometer of political and public opinion will be read at the fair, Tuesday, November 7, when another national House of Representatives, more than a third of the Senate membership, and 32 governors of states, together with state legislatures and local officials, will be chosen.

Nationally, the general election Tuesday is the first of the Harding administration, thus it is regarded by many as a test, bearing upon the next Presidential campaign. The republican "ins" go before the country largely on the record of President Harding and the present congress, an issue accepted by their democratic and other opponents.

Excepting in Maine, where the elections were held last September, the new Sixty-eighth Congress of 435 members will be chosen Tuesday from all states. Thirty-seven Senators in 34 states also will be elected. The states electing governors are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

The battle of ballots throughout the country largely between the two dominant parties, Republican and Democratic. The election is marked by virtual passing of the Progressive, or Bull Moose, party. Socialist, Prohibitionist, Farmer-Labor, Single Tax and other organizations, however, continue on the ballots here and there, with some independent and other miscellaneous designations. Also marking the local campaigns, and often affecting the congressional contests, are the liquor, Ku Klux Klan and other questions.

Congressional candidates mostly are for the Sixty-eighth Congress which will not assemble until December 1923, unless a special session next summer should be called. Of the 37 Senatorial seats at issue, 22 are for regular terms of six years beginning in the next Congress and five to fill vacancies by death and resignation. In addition to the 85 members of the next House to be chosen, there are three to fill vacancies in the coming winter session, two from Nebraska and one from Illinois.

BELGIANS WANT REPRESENTATIVE AT NEAR EAST CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press)
Brussels, Nov. 3.—The Belgian government has sent notes to France, England and Italy expressing a desire to be represented at the Near East Conference in order to protect Belgian interests.

AUSTRIA PERMITTED TO TRADE IN AEROPLANES

(By Associated Press)
Vienna, Nov. 3.—The council of Ambassadors has notified the Austrian government that the treaty prohibition against the manufacture, import and export of airplanes for civilian uses is abolished as of today.

THE PRESIDENT ASKS NATION TO GIVE THANKS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 3.—Declaring that the state of the nation presents very much to justify a nationwide and most sincere testimony of our gratitude for the bounty which has been bestowed upon us, President Harding, in his annual Thanksgiving proclamation, calls upon the people to observe November thirtieth as a day of Thanksgiving, supplication and devotion.

GERMANS WANT TO FLOAT A FOREIGN LOAN

(By Associated Press)
London, Nov. 3.—The German Cabinet, according to the Central News Dispatch, has decided to ask the reparations commission's permission to negotiate a foreign loan of five hundred million gold marks to stabilize the mark.

MYSTERIOUS MOVEMENTS OF OXFORD STUDENT NOW EXPLAINED

(By Associated Press)
London, Nov. 3.—M. Venizelos, former Greek premier, who is just now very much in the public eye and is something of a mystery to the British public, has an equally mysterious young secretary, a tall dark youth named Andrea Constantino Michelopoulos.

He was an undergraduate at Oriel College, Oxford, until a few months ago, always immaculately dressed, and a brilliant scholar. His studies, however, did not prevent his participation in politics, and he frequently obtained permission to spend a night away from college ostensibly on domestic affairs. It has since transpired, however, that such trips included flying to Paris by aeroplane and returning the following day.

Michelopoulos left Oxford a few weeks before the Tino coup, but arrived in Greece only in time to escape on board Venizelos' private yacht. Before coming to Oxford he had been Civil Governor of Lemnos, and had served in the Greek Army.

OPEN AIR GOLF SCHOOL POPULAR IN LONDON

(By Associated Press)
London, Nov. 3.—Just off the busy shopping center of Kensington in the spacious grounds of the Holland House, retired Admirals and Generals, government officials, American visitors, actresses, clergymen and just ordinary citizens meet on common ground. The place is an up-to-date school of golf.

A company, recently formed, has acquired the property and made it into an "all weather" practice course with greens, bunkers, and a series of nets which measure the length of the drive. Cumberland turf has been provided for a perfect putting

PHILIPPINES ASK PERMISSION TO BUILT WARSHIPS

(By Associated Press)
Manilla, Nov. 3.—Warships to defend the coasts of the Philippines are asked in resolutions introduced in the House of Representatives petitioning the United States Congress to authorize the construction of the vessels.

REPUBLICANS CLAIM OF ECONOMY DENOUNCED

By GRATTAN KERANS (Special Correspondence)
Washington, D. C. Nov. 3.—In one of the latest claims made by Chairman John T. Adams of the Republican National Committee it is asserted that the Harding administration has reduced Federal expenditures and the public debts by an aggregate of $2,900,000,000.

Just why Mr. Adams stopped claiming when he reached this figure is not made clear. There was no reason, so far as his disregard of the facts was concerned, why he shouldn't why he shouldn't have claimed reductions of $290,000,000,000. The latter total would have taken a few more ciphers, that's all—and they mean nothing to a good claimer like Mr. Adams.

Being engrossed with his own claims, Mr. Adams overlooked mentioning that the Wilson administration decreased the national debt by $2,500,000,000 between November 11, 1918, and March 4, 1921. This is more than twice the amount of the reduction Mr. Adams credits the Harding administration with having made in eighteen months.

Assuming Mr. Adams' statement to be correct—just to please him and furnish the basis of argument—the Harding administration would still have the balance on the wrong side of the ledger. If its savings and reductions represent $2,900,000,000—but they don't—its increases of taxation represent a considerably larger sum. Why?

The Fordney-McCumber profiteers' tariff law has added not less than $3,000,000,000 a year to the cost of living. Even its Republican advocates and defenders concede this much. The actual amount of the increase is $1,000,000,000 annually. This gigantic addition to the expenses of the people is chargeable wholly and solely to the Republican Congress and the Republican administration, which used their power to legislate outrageous profits into the pockets of special interests in return for the financial and political support of the latter.

This means an increase in taxation even though it is the friends and backers of the Republican machine and not the Federal Treasury that gets the money. But perhaps Mr. Adams wants the public to believe that a taxpayer has not lost anything when he pays $160 a year to private interests instead of to the Government.

lawn and four professionals are kept busy all the time with their variegated assortment of pupils.

The golf school has proved a popular institution and there is a steady stream of pupils from dawn until sundown. It is even planned to install high powered electric lights in order to allow the city men to play after dark. More than 2400 golf balls are used daily, and so great is the demand for the use of the grounds that the instructors' time is booked for many days in advance. Further extensions of the school's facilities are contemplated.

Dawson-Crowell Fair Proves A Splendid Success

WITNESSES IN THE HALL-MILLS CASE ORDERED TO COURT HOUSE

ANOTHER WOMAN EYE-WITNESS TO MURDER HAS BEEN DISCOVERED

(By Associated Press)
New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 3.—All persons connected with the Hall-Mills case, with the exception of the rector's widow, have been summoned to the courthouse by Attorney Mott for the checking of evidence to be submitted to the grand jury. The statements made by Mrs. Hall in her interview will probably be taken as her story for the jury.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 3.—Deputy Attorney General Mott has discovered another woman witness to the Hall-Mills murder, according to reports. The identity of the woman is kept secret by the authorities. The case is said to be almost complete.

INTERNATIONAL PRINTERS TO GATHER AT GOTHENBURG

(By Associated Press)
Gothenburg, Sweden, Oct. 26.—American and other master printers from all over the world will assemble in Gothenburg, Sweden, at the International Congress of Master Printers on June 4, 5, and 6 of next year. The initiative in bringing about this congress has been taken by the Swedish Master Printers' Association, and Waldemar Zachrisson, president of the Association, reports that American, English, and French representatives are among the first to accept the invitations.

The programs for the three days call for discussion of novelties in the printing world; a comparison of striking national variations; the standardization, so far as possible, of methods, material, and machines; and means of improving shop conditions; reductions of costs while assuring printers and employers fair wages and profits, and a number of other equally interesting subjects.

WEATHER REPORT

For North Carolina: Fair to night and Saturday. Cooler in east portion tonight. Moderate west and northwest winds.

NEEDY RUSSIANS OF CULTURE STRANDED IN THE CRIMEA

(By Associated Press)
Moscow, Nov. 2.—The Crimea, formerly the most exclusive and fashionable pleasure resort of Russia under the empire, is now the home of thousands of people of culture and refinement, who today are in great need. They went there in the vain hope of escaping to other countries.

THE TWO INDIVIDUAL EXHIBITS OF C. M. COTTEN AND MARCUS W. PERRY WORTH GOING MANY MILES TO SEE.

DAWSON CROWELL HOUSE A SCEPTER BEAUTY WITH IT'S HABITS OF FANCY CANNING, AS WELL AS ALL DISPLAYS OF THE HOME AND FARM.

Possibly there were some a few months ago who said it could not be done—that is, have a community fair like the one now going on at Dawson—but it has been done and the Dawson-Crowell Fair is a credit to any community in the State.

The school grounds were crowded with visitors from far and near. The first sound which reaches one's ear is that of a Fordson Tractor driving a stover machine, which is on exhibition and in operation. Further on one naturally drifted to the livestock exhibit, of hogs and cattle, and of poultry, turkeys, rabbits and even the lowly opossum.

The outstanding showing of hogs, to a layman's eye, was the two-year old Poland-China boar owned by C. M. Cotten, the pair of Duroc-Jersey's shown by G. T. Exum, and the Duroc-Jersey sow exhibited by Walter Barnes.

Among the cattle the outstanding exhibit was the Jersey bull shown by G. T. Exum and a Jersey cow exhibited by Herbert Butts.

There were two particularly good pens of poultry; that of Rhode Island Reds, by Mrs. Marcellus Pope and White Leghorns by C. M. Cotten.

Leaving the out-door exhibits, the best being always reserved for the last, one enters the large assembly hall of the splendid graded school, which had been converted into a very bower of beauty, with the displays of flowers, fancy work and draperies tastefully arranged around the walls to form a background for the tables and stands loaded down with every imaginable product of the farm and kitchen. Words are not adequate to describe this scene. To mention all would be to catalogue every possible product of the farm and kitchen from the acorn to the finest exhibit of "king" corn; from the humble biscuit to the finest cake; from the artichoke to the finest winesap apple. There was the turnip, the cabbage, the collard, the pea of various varieties, the home cured ham, the jars of preserved and canned fruit, and things to eat without end.

The ladies vied with the men to see which could make the better showing and it would be hard to decide between, for the showing of fancy work, preserves, canned goods, cooking would be hard to excel.

One of the outstanding features were the individual exhibits from the farms of Chas. M. Cotten and Marcus W. Perry. Mr. Cotten had gathered together 94 articles, while Mr. Perry showed forty-four. These two exhibits will no doubt be shown in their entirety at the group Fair at Scotland Neck Armistice Day.

The least which can be said is that the people of the Dawson-Crowell and Tillery section have nothing to be ashamed of; in fact, have a just right to be proud of the showing which they are making today at the first of the series of Community Fairs. Roseneath and Hobgood have been set a standard which will be hard to beat.
